

Past, Present, & Future Self-Portrait

There are many ways to view a person and many facets to every person. For this assignment I am asking you to look at yourself in relation to your life, past, present and future, and those around you. What is important to you? Who is a part of your life? What do you read, think, listen to, look at, dream about, want to do? Where are you now as a high school student?

- You may approach this traditionally, non-traditionally, literally, figuratively, metaphorically, and/or in any combination of these styles
- Painting Students: MUST use watercolors and a minimum of 3 different watercolor techniques. Option to add other media.
- Drawing Students: MUST use Pen & Ink and a minimum of 3 different mark-making techniques. Option to add other media
- Seminar Students: Media of choice. Option to expand upon previous Self-Portrait Assignment or create your own alternative theme to apply to concept of “Past, Present, & Future....”
- Begin by brainstorming, sketching, and collecting images of objects, subjects, relationships, and/or words that you connect with in these different times in your life. Consider whether you see these as distinct and separate, or continuous and weaved together... or both ☺
